

AlxCrypto Co-CEO Jerry Wang Shares Weekly Investor Update: Scaling the Ecosystem, Hub S2 Momentum, and AI Agent Framework Development

March 2, 2026

LOS ANGELES, CA (March 2 2026) /PRNewswire/ — AlxCrypto Inc. (NASDAQ: AIXC) (“AlxC” or the “Company”), a technology company focused on Embodied AI (EAI) infrastructure, today shared a weekly business update from Co-CEO Jerry Wang.

Strategic Refinement – Concentration on RWA and EAI Infrastructure

During the week, Jerry Wang shared reflections on AlxC’s evolving strategic direction.

As part of an ongoing strategic refinement process, the Company is concentrating resources on its Real-World Asset (RWA) and Embodied AI (EAI) ecosystem initiatives. AlxC made the strategic decision to transition away from certain previously incubated initiatives, including the BesTrade AI Agent and Digital Asset AI Management modules, in order to sharpen operational focus and reinforce capital discipline around its core infrastructure objectives.

This decision reflects management’s assessment of execution priority and near- to mid-term value certainty. The Company believes its RWA and EAI infrastructure initiatives are most closely aligned with its core capabilities and partner ecosystem, offer clearer pathways to compliant deployment and institutional participation, and provide more direct commercialization tied to infrastructure usage and asset-based activity. In contrast, the BesTrade AI Agent and Digital Asset AI Management modules carried broader scope, longer development cycles, and less predictable scaling timelines under current market and regulatory conditions. By concentrating resources on its highest-conviction initiatives, AlxC seeks to enhance scalability, and institutional positioning.

AlxC Hub – Season 2 Progress and Ecosystem Metrics

AlxC Hub, the Company’s season-based engagement framework, released its newest season and has surpassed 4.8 million registered wallet addresses, reflecting continued expansion of the Company’s network footprint across its ecosystem. Season 2 introduces refined participation mechanics and expanded interactive modules, including Tenki-based features. Within Tenki, users are able to interact with a season-integrated module that utilizes algorithmic interpretations of traditional metaphysical frameworks to generate daily engagement content in a Web3 context. The module is designed to enhance structured participation and AI Agent-driven experiences within the Hub environment.

In parallel, AlxC Foundation is advancing “Agentir,” a structured evaluation environment designed to benchmark AI Agent performance and support iterative improvement as part of the ecosystem’s architecture. The Company supports ecosystem development through the provision of technical infrastructure and future service level agreements.

Community Engagement and Public Dialogue

As part of its broader ecosystem strategy, AlxC continues to host recurring live X Spaces in collaboration with leading Web3 voices, including Wendy O. These sessions are designed to reinforce AlxC’s positioning at the forefront of AI and blockchain convergence, convening respected industry participants to discuss macro market structure, the evolution of AI-integrated crypto infrastructure, real-world asset tokenization, and the expanding on-chain economy.

Featured guests this week included analysts and contributors, including Dana Howell, CMO of Ben Cowen’s Into the Cryptoverse; Crypto Empress, ; and Erika Lee, a contributor to Decrypt Media and OKX.

The Spaces provide a transparent forum for AlxC leadership to share product updates, articulate long-term vision, and educate the community on the company’s expanding suite of offerings. By combining market commentary with direct engagement and product-driven calls to action, AlxC continues to strengthen its presence as both a builder and a strategic voice in the emerging AI-powered digital asset landscape.

Framework Development

AlxC Foundation continues evaluating appropriate participation and utility frameworks for Agentir and broader ecosystem mechanisms, consistent with a season-based operating model and subject to internal review and applicable regulatory considerations.

Separately, the Company remains focused on disciplined, infrastructure-driven value creation and will continue supporting ecosystem development as plans and structures are further evaluated.
